on

Tuesday 4 November 2008

at

Dillington House, Near Ilminster, TA19 9DT

Keynote Speaker

Ann-Marie Bathmaker

Professor of Applied Research in FE & Lifelong Learning University of the West of England, Bristol

who will lead the day with a session entitled

Higher Education in Further Education & Workplace Settings:
what are the implications for teaching excellence and what it means to be a teacher in the Learning & Skills sector?

Purpose of the Day

- To share our discoveries in excellence in supporting teacher training for the Learning & Skills sector
- To provide networking opportunities for colleagues with shared interests around teacher training and CPD
- To provide opportunity for teacher educators and managers to share and discuss issues and successes

Who should attend?

- SWitch member organisations
- Representatives from other CETTs
- Those interested in finding out more about the work around Initial Teacher Training in the Learning & Skills sector undertaken to date by SWitch

SWitch Project led Workshop Sessions

Delegates will have an opportunity to attend two workshops during the day on the following themes. Each workshop will be lead by members from the relevant SWitch Project Teams:

- Models of recruitment, initial assessment, induction and on-going support for trainees on teacher training programmes
- Disseminating model Individual Learning Plans (ILPs)
- Models of good practice in mentor training
- Supporting Mentors In Adult Learning Environments (SMILE)
- Surveying Teacher trainees' satisfaction - what can it tell us?
- Contextualising ITT - addressing the needs of WBL, ACL and Voluntary & Community learning in ITT programmes through innovative models of delivery
- Promoting and supporting the contextualisation of ITT to make programmes more relevant and accessible to trainees working in non-FE contexts

In addition we will be sharing our successes around:

- Working in partnership to implement change
- Supporting the implementation of the workforce reforms through a Regional SWitch Advisory Service

Delegate Fees

- SWitch CETT Members FREE of Charge
