

Hazel English is a freelance trainer and consultant with a passion for e-learning. She has designed and delivered online courses in management and in training to deliver e-learning.

As a Head of School in the Business faculty at City of Bristol College, Hazel managed and taught a wide variety of subjects and worked closely with the commercial sector to provide customised courses.

She has provided consultancy and training to the public sector including research and support in developing quality assurance systems.

Recent projects include:

Carrying out an impact assessment for Switch

Designing the structure and materials for online delivery of business modules in a Foundation Degree.

Designing and delivering online training courses for NIACE.

Delivering customised training programmes for commercial businesses

Carrying out teaching and learning observations for Bristol City Council Learning Communities Team

Creating and evaluating an inter-active Study Skills package for University of Plymouth